GOOD CROWDS AT THE REVIVAL SERVICES

Second Week of Methodist Revival Opens With Good Andience-Sirong Sermon Preached.

The aecond week of the revival at Third Street M. E. Church started off last evening with the best interest of any service thua far. To the aurprise of everyone present there was a fine audience fer such a disagreeable night The surprise at seeing so many present gave new inspiration to Rev. Overley who prenched the most stirring sermon of the meeting. And it had its effect upon the congregation as many asked for prayers.

All are encouraged at the outlook for the week and are confident that if the spirit of last night's scrvice prevails during the week the revival will be a spiendid success. Remember the service each evening begins at 7 o'clock. The days are precious and fail to grasp the wonderful opportunity to hear the gospei and to profit by

JOINT BUYING OF TOBACCO IS AS-SAILED IN REPORT

Report of Commission of Its Probing Of Leaf Tobacco In Kentucky Presented to Congress.

Washington, Dec. 14. - Three recommendations for changea in the dny nfternoon. present system of huving and selling tobacco are contained in a report of the Federal Trade Commission submitted to the liouse of Representatives Monday in reaponse to a resolution of Representative W. J. Fields. Ninth Kentucky District, cailing for an investigation of the markets and market conditions, especially in 1919 and 1920. The recommendations are:

to the use of common agencies by the defendant companies in the purchase of leaf tohacco which expired hy litigation November, 1916, he revived and

Second-That the provision relating to the defendant companies doing husiness under any other than their own cornorate name or that of a aubsidary ornoration controlled by them be made apecific so as to include the purchase of leaf tobacco through agencies not disclosed to the trade.

Third - That a Federal sysiem of grading leaf tobacco he established by the Department of Agriculture.

The authority to establiah such a system, the report points out, nppa. ently has been given that department under Section 19 of the United Stnics warehouse act. The commission believes, the report says, that this would tend to stabilize market values under ahnormai conditions such as prevailed during part of last summer.

dustry since the dissolution of the combination has been the formation of the liniversni Lenf Tohacco Company, the report peints out. This agency has acted as agent fer and sold tohacco to most of the large interests.

The commission obtained data contohneco, and compiled these in a report covering about 550 pages. After a study of the data it reached the conciusion that the decline ia nttributed to three factors. These factors are: First - Lessening of foreign purchasea due to unfavorable exchange rates, and the contraction of domestic credits resulting in unfavorable financiai conditiona. Second - Increase in quantity of low grades for domeatic absorption due to crop conditions and failing for-

JUDGMENT FOR GROWER AGAINST TOBACCO BUYER

Jury In Mason Circuit Court Finds for Plaintiff in Suit Over Crop of Tobacco Purchased By Chas. Farrow.

A jury in the Maaon Circuit Court thia afternoon returned a verdict giving the plaintiff judgment for $426.16 leas $100 previously paid by the defendant, in tho case of Haifhiii vs. Farrow.

Thia was a very closely contested est as it involved a deal hetween grower and huver of a cron of tobacco. The plaintiff sold his crop of tohacco to Mr. Charles Farrow fer 27 centa per pound to he delivered at the local tohacco market. Upen its delivery Mr. Farrow refused to receive the tobacco ciniming that it was "fat stemmed" and was not in the cendition which the plaintiff agreed in the contract to deliver it. The tobacco was sold over the looseleaf floor and brought 18 cents per pound.

Following the aale, this suit was brought asking judgment for the difference in the price the tobacco hrought and the price Mr. Farrow purchased it for and Mr. Farrow filed a counter claim, claiming that had the tobacco heen in the condition it should have been, he would have made a profit on its saie.

CONGRESS TO COME INTO ITS OWN.

Mr. Harding's speech to the United States Senate on December 6th was an assurance to Congress and to the people that the election to the Presidency of one who had served in the National Legislation was a wise proceeding. The keynote of the President-designate's short address is to be found in his declaration:

"When my responsibilities begin in the executive capacity I shall be as mindful of the Senate's responsibilities as I have been jealous of them as a member, but I mean at the same time to be just as insistent about the responsibilities of the executive. Our governmental good fortune does not lie in any surrender at either end of the avenue, but in the co-ordination and co-operation which becomes the two in a great and truly representative government."

No intimation of a "Senate oligarehy" is to be found in such a elear-eut statement, which, on the other hand the address breathes the determination to do away with the dictatorship under which this eountry for eight years has been laboring. "I like the freedom, the association, the patriotic sense of responsibility which abides here," asserted the speaker. "I am conscious of the great place which Congress holds under our Constitution, and particularly sensible to the obligations of the Senate," and he followed this with the expression of "the wish of a colleague for the confidence and co-operation of the members of this body in the four years which begin next March 4th."

Something of a similar attitude of mind was indicated by the Democratic party when in its Platform of 1912, on which the present chief executive was elected, it was declared: "We believe in the preservation and maintenance in their full strength and integrity of three eo-ordinate branches of the Federal Government—the executive, the legislative, and the judicial—each keping within its own bounds and not encroaching upon the just powers of either of the others."

But within a very short time after his inauguration, Mr. Wilson had reduced the Democratic Congress to such pitiful subservience that it has been rightly named a "rubber stamp Congress," and whatever his majority might say of him in the cloakrooms, they jumped at the erack of his lash. The consequences of his despotism were visited on the nation. Ours became a one-man government. There was little Congressional co-operation with the executive, but much sullen assent to his commands, a great deal of shifting of responsibility to his shoulders, which meant laws miserably framed or accepted as worded by an Administration whose acquaintance with the nation's needs was derived from books or lacking altogether. Hence the legislative mess in which the country finds itself today.

Nor did Mr. Harding neglect the opposition: "I am sure that the necessity of wise solution will inspire us to work together, to take common counsel, to be tolerant o fone another and give the best which is in all of us to attain the ends which become our Republic at home and will maintain its high place among the nations of the earth." Admitting that there could not always be agreement, he hoped to find common ground in the spirit of service, or, as Tennyson puts: "But for some true result of good, all parties work together'."

The President'designate's remarks were an earnest of better understandings betwen the two branches of government. It is safe to predict that Mr. Harding's administration will go far toward vindicating the belief that men trained in the National Legislature are best equipped for the responsibilities of chief executive.

FALSE PRIDE; FALSE SELF-RESPECT.

Learning that there were many thousands of idle workingmen in Detroit, Mayor Couzens offered a thousand jobs at street cleaning and other municipal labor at what used to be a fat wage. Here is

"Of 265 jobs at street cleaning, paying $6 per day, and garbage collecting. paying $6.50, which the city offered, only eight were accepted. The unemployed apparently don't want jobs; they want positions, while Detroit editors conclude that, after high wages in automobile factories, Detroit's 75,000 unemployed are 'too proud' to do ordinary public labor." Whereat a great editor, with the city slant on things wrote:

"It is well for mankind that men who formed a mighty army in a great factory, associating with better fellows than ever before. standing higher socially and in their own self-respect than ever before should rebel in pure pride against rolling a garbage can or chasing street refuse in a gutter for $6 a day, or any other wage."

And yet the farmer does exactly those same things every day in his barn and his feed lot and in his fields, and he does them with pride and self-respect. Would it be well for mankind if the farmer refused to clean out the cattle stalls every day or twice a day? Would it be well for mankind if the farmer, through pride, refused to trudge in mud and dirt behind the plow and cultivator, following the example of the city workmen who declined to work on the streets?

It would not be well for mankind; mankind would starve from the face of the earth.

The trouble is that there is too much false pride and too much false self-respect among all the other false things in our cities. Hanling garbage to the incinerator and cleaning the streets is a good deal more important work so far as humanity is concerned than work ing in an automobile factory, and the men who do those jobs should have pride in the knowledge that they are accomplishing the neces sary in this world of people.

NO DONATIONS.

St. Louis Times - Wiping out interallied war loans is being an persistently advocated now as a few months ago. America's debtora may repudiate their debts, if they desire to assume that disgrace, but there will be no donation of $10,000,000,000 of American taxpayers' money to our late associates in the war.

Springfield, Mass., was probably the first American city to choose a woman as eity physician. in 1872. when twelve mascuiine M. D.'s were contesting for the office, friends of Dr. Sarah J. iWiliams offered her name as the thirteenth candidate, and she proved to be the successful one.

Queen Mary is credited with being he most economical queen in the whole history of England. Under her pareful supervision such a thing as waste is said to be absolutely unknown in the royal household.

The first woman ever appointed collector of internal revenue was Mrs. S. M. Parker who received the apcated the first woman ever admitted pointment in the Fourth Indiana district in 1873.

Why?

Mendan and all property and a party

Many persons wonder why they have to pay 40 or 50 cents, or more, for the beef they buy when live cattle are only 10 or 15 cents a pound.

In the first place, we average only about ½ pound of meat from the pound of steer for which we pay 10 or 15 cents. Only part of the other half consists of such by-products as hides, oleo oil, tallow, etc. - the remainder is waste. And the return from by-products just now is very small. Hides and fats as well as many other items are down to prewar prices.

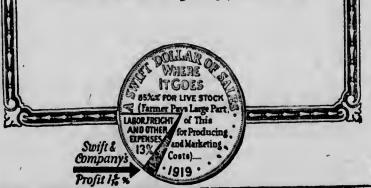

In the second place, there are not many pounds of the kind of meat for which you pay 40 or 50 cents, or more, in the entire animal. Sometimes the retailer has to sell a lot of the meat he buys for about what he pays for it, because you and your neighbors pass by certain cuts and insist upon the other choicer cuts, such as steaks, etc.

Necessarily, he must get enough for these choicer cuts to make up for what he loses on the less popular ones, such as soup meat, etc.

The difference between the final retail price of the finished meat product and the first cost of the live steer is less than it is for most farm products.

Iliggesi Musicai Show of the Year at Lexington Christams Weck.

The biggest musical attraction that has invaded this section stace pre-war days is now en route from San Francisco and Los Angeles to New York. Theater-goers in this section will have an opportunity to see this sttraction, the Marcus Show of 1920, during its engagement in Lexington at the Opers flouse, three night, Christmas matinee, starting Thursday, December 23rd.

There are nearly one hundred persons engaged. Many of these are the famous Mareus Peaches. There is a special orchestra and it requires a special train of three baggage cars and an equal number of Pullmans te transport the big organization.

Not in years has an attraction made O ON THE FARM such an unqualified hit on the Coast as that enjoyed by the Marcus Show. But few citles are being visited hetween the Coast and New York where the Marcus Show inaugurates its metropolitan engagement enrly next

In commenting on the attraction the San Francisco Examiner of September 21, had the following to say:

An Appeal

To the Republicans of the Country and All Those Who Aided Them:

The Republican success in the 1920 election has been commensurate with the quality of our candidates and the righteousness of our cause.

This success is the partnership accomplishment of all Republicans everywhere and of hundreds of thousands of well-wishers of good government regardless of past party affiliations.

To all of these we now appeal, because it is the mutual responsibility of us all who will share alike in the consequent mutual benefit of good government. The plan of limiting campaign contributions to $1,000, adopted by your national organization, has left your party, unmortgaged.

It has been a most advanced step in placing the business of politics on the highest plane, and has brought an interest on the part of thousands who never before have been concerned with politics.

Some weeks before election it was apparent that the expenses provided for in our budget, with the strictest economy, would exceed the contributions, but we were unwilling either to leave undone any legitimate effort essential to complete success or to change the method of raising money. We were then sure and are are now sure that every Republican desires that the expenses of the campaign be distributed in this manner.

Your presidential campaign this year cost no more than that of 1916, when a dollar went nearly twice as far as it does today.

Four years ago the bulk of the campaign fund came from 750 contributors, while this year the approximately $2,000,000 contributed to date for the presidential election has come from 50,000 givers.

The victory won, the raising of the deficit would be easy, indeed, if your committee were willing to shandon the policy of keeping down the average of contribution. This we are determined not to do. It was a fight of all the people. The result speaks for fiself. It lifted a burden from the minds of millions and points the way to better and happier days. We ask now for that additional help from all which is merited both by the successful conclusion of the effort and by the consequent contribution to the welfare of all of our people and the glory of the nation.

Let us now have help from every American who is grateful for the victory and all that it means to the country. It might well be in the nature of a thanksgiving offering for the return to a certainly safe, sane, constitutional progressive government. Let us by general and generous giving put the seal of approval upon the policy of putting a national administration in power free from any possible embarrasament of special obligation to any man, men or group of men. Let us make the contribution, whether large or small, and whether or not we have heretofere given, commensurate with our means and our appreciation, always within the maximum limit heretefore fixed. Let us get our names on the cornerstone of a sturdier political structure, upon the roll of those who have helped make possible a campaign of which, in methods and result, we may as Republicans and patrlots be justly proud.

Most earnestly we urge that this ald be given quickly, that your committee may be enabled to discharge the party's obligations and turn to further constructive work in behalf of party and country.

A REOL CHRISTMAS PRESENT.

The holiday season with its joys and its problems is upon us. What shall we do to add to the happiness of the occasion? Each one of us would lle not onl yto wkish our friends a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year, but to glvo them onc. We cannot do this by means of ili-considered presents. Thoughtless gifts cause the January ash can to bulge with debris. Only when our gifts have lasting meaning do they carry the true message of good-will which is the spirit of real giving.

We can give happlness and coutent ment and safety for the future as well as pleasure for the moment. Such gifts are within reach of ail. They are to be found in the Savings Securities of the United States Government. From the 25 cent Thrift Stamp to the $1,000 Treasury Savings Certificate. they will carry with them not only tho greetings of the season but happiness for years to come. In presenting the child n card with one thrift stamp affixed, you bestrow not only a present hut a hablt which will grow in value as the days pass, for he will wish to fill the card. That little gift will have grown wonderfully before another Christmas comes around, and the recipient will be on the way to a ife o findependence.
